Rome, 21 November 2023 - On the upcoming 22nd and 23rd of November, at the Lisbon Congress Centre in Portugal, Leasys will take part to the Fleet Europe Summit, an event entirely dedicated to car fleets and the mobility of the future. Promoted by Nexus Communication, this important appointment reaches an international audience that includes all stakeholders in fleet and mobility decisions: from HR to mobility and fleet to travel, facility, and finance managers.

This is the first time that the new Leasys, born from the consolidation of the activities between Leasys and Free2Moove Lease, is attending the event with its new corporate structure, presenting itself as Europe's fourth largest rental player and key actor in several countries. The Summit is the annual gathering of international corporate fleet leaders who will discuss the building blocks and success factors for effective fleet management for future-oriented mobility. Specifically, they will examine how to achieve goals with the evolution of electrified mobility, balancing costs and both social and economic benefits.

In the afternoon of November 23rd, Rolando D'Arco, CEO of Leasys, will attend the Executive Leasing Panel entitled 'Destination Zero: the road to fleet and mobility success'. During the debate, Rolando D'Arco together with the top executives from the most significant leasing companies at European level will explore the contours of global fleet management and mobility success.
