Fully electric, flexible and environmentally friendly, this is what the near future of mobility looks like for Leasys, a Stellantis brand and a subsidiary of FCA Bank. The leading long-term rental company in Italy and major player at European level announces its electrification strategy and development plan for the upcoming years which aims to complete its 'mobility revolution' project by 2024.

By 2024 the Leasys short-term fleet will be 75 per cent electric, 100 per cent by the end of 2027, with a total fleet of more than 500,000 long, medium and short-term vehicles. Within three years, the 1,000 fast charge points currently existing in Europe will triple, reaching a total of more than 3,000 in the 12 countries where Leasys is operational: Austria, Belgium, Denmark, France, Germany, Greece, Italy, Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, United Kingdom and Spain.

The new Electrification strategy will unfold fully also at a service level, with the offering of several 'from a minute to a lifetime' mobility solutions, designed to promote the adoption of zero-emission vehicles without the burden of ownership. Such solutions include Leasys Miles, the long-term rental pay-per-use product, ideal for occasional usage of the vehicles, now available on the New 500, the first time it's available on an all-electric vehicle.

Customers will also be able to choose Leasys Unlimited, another long term rental product dedicated to the hybrid and electric models of the Stellantis Group, combines in a single package everything needed to enjoy a full peace of mind rental experience including, for the first time, unlimited miles and one initial payment.

In July 2021 Leasys acquired Easirent, expanding its short term rental solutions and subscription services and starting its electric revolution in the UK. The signing of the agreement strengthens Leasys role as 360-degree mobility leader in the UK and mainland Europe.

As part of the Fleet changeover to electric vehicles, Leasys also offered customers the opportunity to be one of the first to drive and experience the new iconic all-electric Fiat 500.

Finally, the 'mobility revolution' has also had a significant impact on the financial front. In July 2021, Leasys placed a €500 million Green Bond, which will mature in July 2024 and pay a fixed-rate coupon of zero per cent. This issuance marks an important milestone for FCA Bank and Stellantis, as it represents the first operation of this kind for the group. The Green Bond has been very well received by the market, raising €2.3 billion euros from over 129 investors, and its proceeds will be used to finance the expansion of its fleet of low emission vehicles as well as its network of fast charging points, further consolidating the electrification efforts of Leasys.
